Teaching Children About Online Safety

Now, more than ever, children are spending large amounts of time online. While the internet can be a useful and sometimes necessary tool, it is very important to make sure the children in your life understand how to use it safely. Go over these online safety tips with them to help prepare them for situations that may come up while surfing the web.

- Don't give anyone your password, name, address, the name of your school or any information about your family.
- Don't talk to strangers on the Internet.
- Don't agree to meet anyone in person that you've met online.
- Don't fill in a profile that asks for your name and address.
- Don't visit a chat room without an adult's / parent's permission.
- Don't stay online if you see something you think your parents won't like.
- Don't post pictures of yourself without your parents' permission.
- Do not download or install anything on your computer without your parents' permission.
- If you have any questions about something you read, ask your parent or guardian.
- If you are talking to someone online and they make you uncomfortable, remember you don't have to talk back to them.

We hope sharing these online safety tips will help the children in your life safely navigate the internet.
